Collaborative Initiative

Undergraduate Research Community (URC) for the Human Sciences

Collaborating with Michigan State University, Kansas
State University, and the University of Maryland—Eastern Shore, the Kappa Omicron Nu Leadership Academy sponsors the URC in partnership with the Board on Human Sciences, the Council of Administrators of Family and Consumer Sciences, the Higher Education Unit of the American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences, and the 1890 Council of Administrators. Human sciences units are invited to affiliate as Participating Institutions. To affiliate with the URC, each unit shall submit a one- to-two-page letter of commitment to the Kappa Omicron Nu National Office.

Undergraduate Research Journal for the Human Sciences - Manuscripts are accepted at any time for calendar year issues. Submissions are open to all undergraduate students.

The first, second, third, fourth, fifth, and sixth issues can be located at www.kon.org/urc/undergrad\_research.html.

and URC Undergraduate Research Conference—August 2 - 5, 2007

New Initiatives

Career Awareness for Schoolchildren Ages 9-12

This program has been developed by Kappa Omicron Nu to give college students and professionals the resources necessary to share hands-on Human Sciences (HS) experiences with schoolchildren ages 9-12. This program intends to make a contribution to understanding of human sciences careers by showing children that:

- HS makes important contributions to everyday life.
- Children can use HS knowledge to improve their lives.
- Careers in HS can be fun and satisfying.

How does the program work? The Kids & Careers program provides college students and professionals with kits of a wide variety of hands-on HS activities and demonstrations that are safe and age-appropriate. Existing activities will be collected in a central resource. Each activity will conclude with a short description of the applicable career, including how specialized knowledge is used in professional practice.

Program and resource kits for the Kids & Careers program are posted on the Kappa Omicron Nu Web site, see link on the Homepage at www.kon.org. The Kappa Omicron Nu Board of Directors launched the program with chapters at Conclave 2003. Other high school and college student groups are encouraged to participate.

Partners - Kappa Omicron Nu is pleased to announce the following partners. Other groups are invited to become partners and supply resource suggestions for an integrated approach to career awareness of family and consumer sciences among schoolchildren ages 9-12:

- American Association of Family & Consumer Sciences
- Board on Human Sciences
- Council of Administrators of Family & Consumer Sciences
- Family, Career & Community Leaders of America, FCCLA
- Family Economics and Resource Management Division & Higher Education Unit, AAFCU
- National 4-H Headquarters

Knowledge Management for the Human Sciences

Kappa Omicron Nu announces this Knowledge Portal to enhance the intellectual foundations of the human sciences. Specifically (in the beginning),

1. The theory and practice of the integrative approach in human systems
2. The knowledge base of quality of living

In an effort to accomplish these goals, Kappa Omicron Nu announces the formation of a Community of Practice for Integration by Design, and a Community of Practice for Personal Resource Systems Model to establish a quality of living index.

Human Sciences Working Papers Archive

This Archive was initiated by the Kappa Omicron Nu Leadership Academy to fill an important niche—communication about working papers in the human sciences community. The “Rationale” and details “About HSwp” on the links reveal that the chief outcome can be described as ACCESS. Authors have access to readers and feedback. Students, professionals, and the public have access to new ideas and resources in a timely manner. Thus individuals, professionals, and society will benefit from the enthusiastic participation of authors and researchers. HSwp invites your participation. See www.kon.org/hswp/index.html.
